

Elevator Pitch:

Combat Critters is a charming auto-battler where adorable animals clash in strategic showdowns. Collect, combine, and evolve your critters to build powerful teams and watch them battle for victory. With a set number of slots, random items and a shop you can reroll, every battle becomes a test of luck and strategy. It is a game that is easy to learn but hard to master, Combat Critters rewards creative thinking and clever team-building.

Game Synopsis:

As you win each round, improve your team to earn coins which in turn allow for a chance to roll for upgrades or better critters. Each battle gets progressively more difficult, encouraging players to think strategically, balance risk and reward, and adapt their lineup to overcome new challenges. Mastering when to spend, save, or reroll becomes key to surviving longer and building the ultimate team of critters.

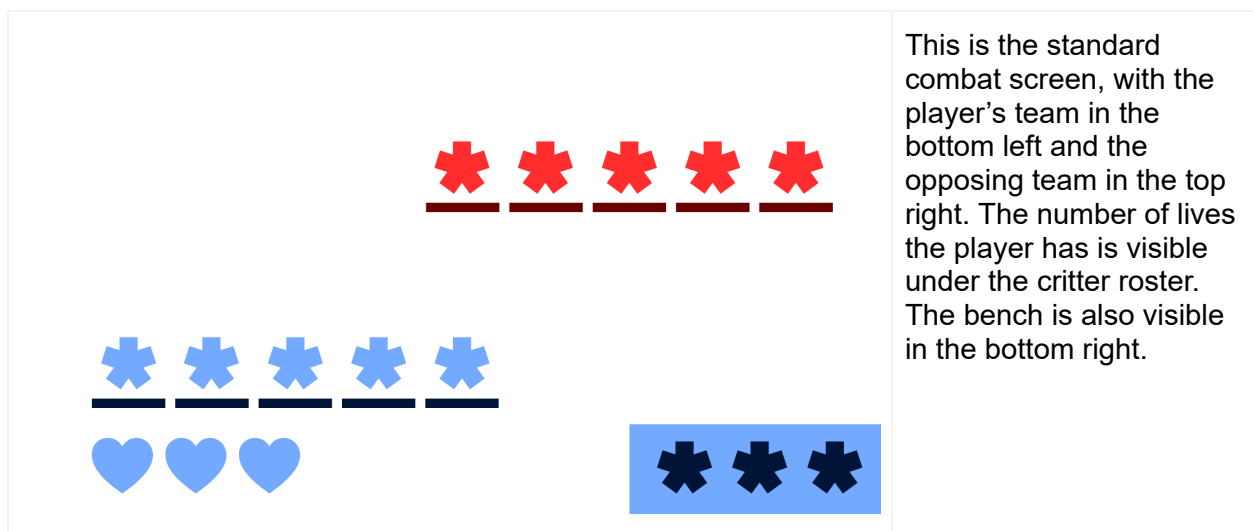

Objective:

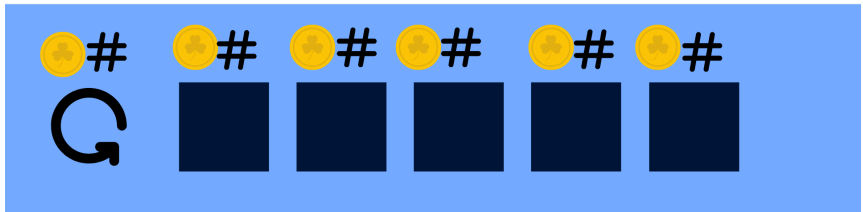

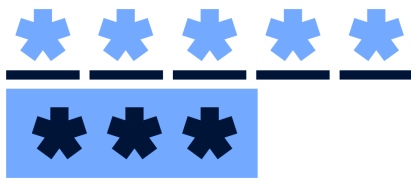

The objective of this game is to win as many rounds as possible before being defeated 3 times.

Mechanics Description:

The player controls a team of up to five critters and a bench of 3, that can be bought, upgraded, or sold for coins. After each round, players earn a set amount of coins, with bonus rewards granted for maintaining win streaks or for recovering from losses. Additional bonuses are earned through interest, rewarding players for saving coins in increments of ten. A shop system allows players to reroll for alternative or stronger critters. Items can be earned after a set amount of rounds. These items can buff the critter's health, defense, attack, and critical chance. After each win the battle gets progressively more difficult, eventually they will be stuck at a set difficulty until they have found a way to get past the round. Once a set number of rounds have been won the player has won the game.

Mockup Example:

This is the shop screen with the roster, bench and lives visible in the top half of the mockup. The number of coins are also visible in the middle right of the screen. The shop is the bottom half with the reroll button and 5 critters available for purchase. The cost of all those actions are available above the image/button.
